Birdie Daycare

Did you know that in the wild, birds are never alone? Birds travel in large flocks of hundreds. They preen each other, fly together and play together. They forage for food, nest sites and mates. But as pets, birds are often left alone in cages with a handful of toys and food and expected to be happy.

Most people work and have other daily responsibilities and don't have enough time to provide the socialization and care their birds need. That's where we come in.

If your bird is alone throughout the day, or you have a busy day planned, don't think twice! We can provide a healthy dose of companionship that can benefit your birds both physically and mentally.

We can teach your bird how to use foraging toys, and teach them different types of skills, such as stepping up, responding to their names and becoming more social with people. We can also make them feel more comfortable in different environments and encourage them to eat a healthier diet.

We offer a supervised and interactive atmosphere. Our program is specifically designed to provide a nurturing and stimulating environment for your bird. We have licensed technicians who will care for your bird throughout their stay and who are able to assist you with any concerns you have.

To ensure the health and safety of your bird, we require a Wellness Exam with blood work and a fecal test done by one of our Veterinarians.

Please give us a call for more information. We're a chirp away.
